RETURN OF TEXT BOOKS

Text books are a vital resource for all schools and our pupils rely heavily upon having them to complete their GCSE and A level examinations. It is therefore imperative that pupils who have finished their studies return these books to the school. The average cost of a text book is increasing every year and it would not be financially possible for Glenlola Collegiate to purchase new text books especially now given the current financial situation. To this end we would ask that all our Year 12 and 14 pupils return their text books to school on the appropriate day and follow the procedures stated below. We greatly appreciate your co-operation in this extremely important task.

Please note that the School will be open from 8.30am to 12.30pm on these days.
